Capacity

Everybody loves working in Excel, so do planners.

Not everybody loves to be restricted to resource groups only; you have different types of resources, assigned to teams, departments, regions, companies ...

Not everybody defines capacity in hours and not every resource has the same type of capacity; you might work in days but also in weight, volume, pallets, beds ...

> Look at, inspect and analyse actuals, capacity, load and variance from every angle

- > True Pivot-table to select fields, group on any value, add totals at any level
- > Work with days, weeks, months, quarters and years and select any of these individually, add totals at any level
- > Free and unlimited number of levels to colour-code load and variance
- > Unique unit of measure system to define actuals and capacity
- > Calculate actuals based on duration or set a fixed quantity

Calendar integration

Everybody loves working in Outlook. The calendar shows up on your PC, laptop, tablet and mobile phone.

Connected directly with the Microsoft Exchange Server Dime.Scheduler shows your personal planning on any device. No additional software or synchronisation required.

- > Show your calendar on any device
- > All desktop, tablet and mobile phone operating systems supported
- > No additional software or synchronisation required on the devices

- > Microsoft Exchange Server 2003 and higher are supported
- > Supports on-premise and hosted Microsoft Exchange Server
- > Supports Microsoft Exchange Server 365, part of Office365
- > Simple, smart, straightforward

One planner to rule them all

1

All too often planning systems are limited to just one part of the business or just one application or just one office or just one department or just one country...

What if you run a project business and a service department? What if you plan repairs and replacement equipment or rentals? What if you run multiple outlets across the country? What if you run multiple sites across countries? What if ...?

Dime.Scheduler is a planning solution that can bring together all your resource planning spanning all your business areas, all your applications, all your departments, sites, offices and countries, even your meeting rooms.

- > One planning solution for your entire resource planning
- > One planning solution that talks with all your applications
- > One planning solution for all your departments and all your business areas
- > Clever and simple security to segregate roles and responsibilities

Dime.Scheduler, one planner to rule them all!
